Drym

Drym House, a prestigious traditional granite built home, situated in the peaceful hamlet of Drym near Leedstown, Hayle. Originally built in the 1850s and owned by the same family since the 1960s, the updating of this beautiful period home to an exceptional standard for modern life has been a passion for the owner since 2018.

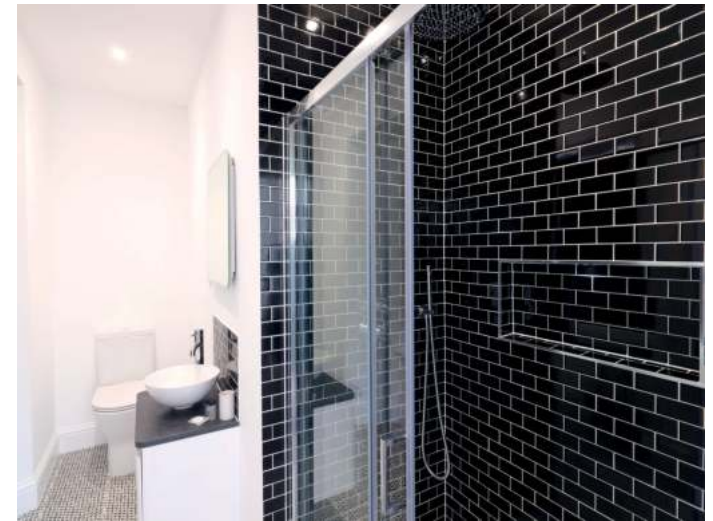

Through the front pillared porch of Drym House you enter the spacious entrance hall. To the left hand side you will find the formal lounge with adequate seating, which is the perfect place to read, relax and reflect - especially on cooler days in front of the statement fireplace. To the right of the entrance hall, the newly renovated and enviable kitchen with stone flooring and on trend navy cabinets complete with marble style tops is well furnished with high spec appliances, range style double oven, American style fridge/freezer with ice maker, dishwasher, large wine cooler, coffee machine and double Belfast sink.

The modern kitchen is a chef's dream and the central island unit will soon see all the party get stuck in with the dinner preparations. A log burner and large dining area makes this the perfect hub of Drym House for socialising, drinking and eating. The kitchen is connected to a wonderfully light sun room with its vaulted ceilings and bi fold doors, giving seamless access to an external terrace, the perfect place to relax in the Cornish sun or enjoy pre dinner drinks at the end of a day exploring. The ground floor is completed with the boot room and shower room, great for furry feet and sandy toes via the rear porch entrance.

The mid Victorian staircase of Drym House takes you to the central landing where you will find four light and airy bedrooms. Each bedroom has large sash windows and their own individual view of the gardens and have been stylishly dressed with a soft colour palette, all making for a perfect nights sleep. A master king bedroom with dual aspect windows has a spacious double shower en suite, finished with black retro subway tiles. A second king and third twin both have en suites, to provide plenty of flexibility for all of your parties needs. The fourth double bedroom sits prime in the middle of Drym House over looking the front garden and entrance. The family bathroom looks out onto the idyllic rear garden and is complimented with a statement bath from Waters baths of Ashbourne, the perfect place to simply soak away during your stay at Drym House. The utopia vintage grey floor tiles with Fired Earth wall tiles provides the utmost of luxury.

Explore Cornwall

St Ives

There aren't many British seaside towns that manage to be both quaint and cool at the same time but St Ives ticks all the boxes. As well as its famous white sandy beaches, turquoise sea and golden light, this artists' mecca also has a thriving food scene, great surf and miles of breathtaking nearby coastline to explore.

Hayle

Hayle has built its reputation as a resort town on its '3 miles of golden sand'. At low tide there is an uninterrupted stretch of beautiful, fine sand reaching from the estuary mouth all the way to Godrevy Point in the north.

Newlyn

Newlyn is home to one of the largest fishing fleets in the United Kingdom, with over 40 acres of harbour. The industry is one of the most important in the county, contributing millions of pounds to the Cornish economy each year. The port was sacked and torched by a Spanish raiding party in the 16th century, then rebuilt.

Marazion

Although only the size of a village Marazion is in fact one of the oldest chartered towns in Cornwall. Marazion is perhaps best known for being the gateway to the impressive island castle of St Michael's Mount. This beautiful, magical and historical landmark is now in the care of the National Trust, with the St. Aubyn family still resident. The Mount can be reached at low tide from Marazion by a cobbled causeway and at high tide by local ferry boatmen. Marazion has a wealth of lovely individual shops and galleries where you can browse or buy locally crafted wares and exclusive items of art.

Porthleven

Porthleven is the most southerly working port in the United Kingdom and boasts a picturesque harbour, with some interesting old buildings. Porthleven is large enough to cater for visitors whilst retaining the character of an unspoilt fishing village, with its granite harbour and pier and famous clock tower. The large village has a friendly atmosphere, several good restaurants and a pleasant beach. The village remains unspoilt by progress. It has always been popular with artists and crafts people and there are several shops displaying and selling local work.

Prussia Cove

Secluded and romantic, Prussia Cove has an olde-world poetic feel and is famous as being the home of the Carter family. The family were smugglers in the 18th century, one of whom, Harry Carter became known as the King of Prussia. This sheltered little cove is a fantastic place to explore with rock pools, a cave and tumbledown granite fishing huts built into the side of the cliff next to the coast path.

Praa Sands

The village of Praa Sands is located roughly halfway between the town of Penzance and Helston. The main feature is the extensive sandy beach which stretches for about a mile between Hoe Point in the west and Rinsey Head in the east. Praa is a popular surfing beach and is well known for its powerful waves. When the surf is big and blown out on the north coast you will often find a better wave here. There is also a bit of history here. Just inland from the middle of the beach is Pengersick Castle.
